This Christmas, See Change will be holding a Model UN Camp for your children.

Our Model UN Camp is a unique, engaging program that allows students to travel the world by exploring pertinent global issues. Through participation in Model UN simulations, students will be empowered to explore the world, analyze situations from various perspectives, and tackle controversial topics in Global Health, Human Rights, Economics & Trade, Women in Leadership, and Climate Change, while building on persuasive communication and advanced public speaking. Each of week 1 and week 2 focus on a different topic. Students are encouraged to attend multiple weeks!

If you want to know more about Model UN, please join our special lecture by a Model UN veteran who will take you through the inner workings and functions of the different United Nations councils, and how a Model UN works! Our special lecture will give you the background and exposure necessary to succeed in Model UN as a first timer, and even as an experienced council member!

See Change's Expert Lecture Series – Brexit and its Impacts

This October marked the first round of expert lectures across various pressing global issues hosted by See Change. For our first round of lectures, we had James Dix, an Oxford University graduate of law, and an avid debater. Having done a broadcasted debate at the Oxford Union on Brexit against politicians and other debaters, James was invited to introduce participants to Brexit and its impacts.

The issue of Brexit has been a hot topic across various walks of life since the UK referendum in 2016, where the UK voted to leave the EU. A majority of the discussion revolved around the economic and social impacts of the Brexit deal, and how it could negatively impact lives and businesses both inside and outside the UK. Brexit took effect only last year, in February 2020, and its impacts are still being made known to this day.

The lecture focused on the history of the EU and Brexit and continued to discuss different reasons why people may want to leave or stay. Participants then learnt about how to craft arguments expertly and were treated to videos of James as well as other pertinent politicians facing off at the Oxford Union! In the end, students were invited to try out their skills and make arguments for and against Brexit!

This first lecture in our lecture series was certainly engaging and exciting for the participants, particularly as they got the opportunity to learn from an expert debater with expert knowledge on the topic!

Stay tuned for See Change's next lecture, where we will introduce another international organization – the United Nations! Our expert lecturer will take you through the United Nations and introduce participants to Model UN – a popular activity in schools!
